Bees ‘n Aull: A Pollinator Celebration

Sunday, June 26, 12 - 5pm

No party would be as festive or delicious without the contribution of pollinators and the plants they pollinate. Learn about pollinators—birds, bees, butterflies and more—and celebrate National Pollinators Week during a fun-filled day with hands-on learning opportunities, crafts, demonstrations, programs and walking tours of Aullwood Farm.

Admission – $5 adult/ children and members of Aullwood are free*

Events Highlights:

- Observe a honey bee hive, talk with beekeepers and learn about beekeeping
- Enter to win one of ten (10) free one-year memberships to Aullwood provided by Scotts Miracle GRO support of Celebrate Ohio Pollinators
- Draft Horse Wagon rides ($1 per person) to see Aullwood fields and pastures and learn about bee buffers along our fence rows
- Meet the 2016 American Honey Queen
- Make bee and butterfly crafts
- Live music by Chris Rowlands
- Local food trucks and Graeter’s Ice Cream will be on site
- Learn how to create a pollinator friendly habitat in your own backyard
- Local honey for sale
- Learn about monarch butterflies and their migration
- Look for bees, birds, and butterflies with an Aullwood Naturalist on a walking tour of Aullwood Farm and see ducks, turkeys, goats, sheep, cows, horses and chickens
- Take home a seed packet of native Ohio plants
