

BEES ARE GREAT FOR THE NEIGHBORHOOD

We need bees for our trees, gardens, and seeds!

FRUIT TREES AND SHRUBS

Did you know that most commercial orchards hire bees for pollination? Without the help of bees, apple tree flowers would bloom, wither, and drop without ever having a chance to become an apple. If you have fruit trees and shrubs, your neighborhood beekeeper provides an invaluable service at no charge!

BACKYARD GARDENS

If there is a beehive in the neighborhood, your backyard garden will get a boost! Did you know that many of our most popular vegetables rely on pollinators to produce food? With the help of bees, we can grow larger quantities of corn, pumpkins, zucchini, and more!

SEEDS

Whether you save seeds or purchase them, bees are critical to seed production. Home seed savers must rely on neighborhood pollinators to produce common seeds such as kale, broccoli, and carrot.
